

Enjoy a tea break in our new garden space

Volunteers have been working hard over the summer to transform an outside area at the back of the Percival Guildhouse, into a tranquil and beautiful courtyard garden space where you can relax with a drink or sit and chat with friends after a class - weather permitting, of course!

The full Percival Guildhouse gardens, which extend across the side of our building and along the length of the Library, have been open to the public for many years and are maintained by Rugby Borough Council but our new garden space nestles within our beautiful iron railings and listed brick walls - an oasis of calm for you to enjoy.
